“ What a great man! I loved delivering mail to his home, walking up the steps and hearing the tv with the window open. I would say loudly Richie and we would chit chat about the old days and he would say wow how do you remember all that! I would make him laugh saying well Rich I am older than you, or when it was a hot day in the summer and he would say hot enough for ya and I would make him laugh saying Rich your gonna out live us all! Good to know a good man, last of the greatest generation of people which kept this city tight. Rest in peace my friend
